1 About these Qualifications

This booklet contains OCR's GCSE specification in History A for teaching from September 2009.

Key Features

- A clear progression route to the revised OCR AS/A Level History specifications.
- A Study in Development – either Medicine through Time or Crime and Punishment through Time.
- A Study in Depth chosen from a broad range.
- 25% British element , assessed through the Historical Source Investigation in A952 and the History Around Us controlled assessment.
- Controlled Assessment (25%) which requires the completion of two tasks:
  1. History Around Us involving an investigation of a local site
  2. Modern World Study involving a current issue set in the context of the past.

This specification requires students to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of:

- the key individuals, societies, events, developments and issues through the study of the content, key questions and focus points in the Study in Development, the Study in Depth and controlled assessment.
- the key features and characteristics of the periods together with the social, cultural, religious and ethnic diversities of the societies studied and the experiences of people in these societies in the Study in Development, the Study in Depth and controlled assessment.
- change and development over a period of time sufficient to demonstrate understanding of the process of change, both long-term and short term through the Study of Development, both in medicine and crime punishment, which require a study across a wide historical period and a consideration of the degree of development, change and progress or regress.
- history in at least two different scales, such as local, national, European, international and global in the Study in Development, the Study in Depth and controlled assessment. For example:
  - local through History Around Us;
  - national through the Study in Depth,;
  - European through the development of medicine in the Study of Development
  - international and global through the Modern World Study.

a study of history in at least two different ways:

- depth in the Study in Depth and History Around Us;
- outline and thematic in the Development Study;
- outline and depth in the Modern World Study.

a study of history from a variety of perspectives such as

- political in the Modern World Study

- economic in the Study in Depth
- social and cultural in the Study in Development,
- technological and scientific in the Study in Development
- aesthetic in History Around Us
- a substantial and coherent element of British history through the assessment of the compulsory British elements in medicine and crime and punishment (The Development of British Medicine and Crime and Punishment in Britain) on A952 and by the British History Around Us task in History Around Us.

1.1 GCSE (Full Course)

From September 2009 the GCSE is made up of three mandatory units. Two of these units are externally assessed, the third unit is controlled assessment, and is internally assessed.

A951: Study in Development and Study in Depth

A952: Historical Source Investigation

A953: Controlled Assessment

1.3 Qualification Titles and Levels

This qualification is shown on a certificate as:

- OCR GCSE in History A.

This qualification is approved by the regulatory authorities (QCA, DCELLS and CCEA) as part of the National Qualifications Framework.

Candidates who gain Grades D to G will have achieved an award at Foundation Level 1 (Level 1 of the National Qualifications Framework).

Candidates who gain Grades A* to C will have achieved an award at Intermediate Level 2 (Level 2 of the National Qualifications Framework).

1.4 Aims and learning outcomes

GCSE specifications in history should encourage candidates to be inspired, moved and changed by following a broad, coherent, satisfying and worthwhile course of study and gain an insight into related sectors. They should prepare candidates to make informed decisions about further learning opportunities and career choices.

GCSE specifications in history must enable candidates to:

- actively engage in the process of historical enquiry to develop as effective and independent candidates and as critical and reflective thinkers with enquiring minds

- develop their knowledge and coherent understanding of selected periods, societies and aspects of history
- develop an awareness of how the past has been represented, interpreted and accorded significance for different reasons and purposes
- develop the ability to ask relevant questions about the past and to investigate them critically using a range of sources in their historical context
- organise and communicate their historical knowledge and understanding in creative and different ways and reach substantiated judgments
- recognise that their historical knowledge, understanding and skills help them understand the present and also provide them with a basis for their role as responsible citizens, as well as for the possible further study of history.

1.5 Prior Learning/Attainment

Candidates entering this course should have achieved a general educational level equivalent to National Curriculum Level 3, or 'Entry 3' at Entry Level within the National Qualifications Framework.

2 Summary of Content

2.1 GCSE Units

Unit A951: Study in Development and Study in Depth

There are two parts to the content of this unit, candidates study one Study in Development and one Study in Depth, these are chosen from the list below.

3 Content

3.1 A951: Study in Development and Study in Depth

The content consists of two Studies in Development from which one must be studied, and four Studies in Depth from which one must be studied.

Studies in Development

Candidates must study either Medicine Through Time or Crime and Punishment Through Time.

Candidates will be expected to demonstrate their ability to describe and explain historical change and cause, and analyse different features of historical situations.

Study in Development: Medicine Through Time

This Study in Development examines continuities and changes in the history of medicine. It focuses in each of the periods identified below on a common set of key questions:

- What caused people to be healthy or unhealthy?
- Who provided medical care?
- What caused diagnoses and treatments to remain the same or to change?
- How far did new ideas and treatments affect the majority of the population?

Candidates should develop a knowledge and understanding of the main developments in the history of medicine.

- What ideas did people have about the causes and treatment of illness and injuries?

Medicine in prehistoric times:

- the nature of the evidence;
- its values and its problems;
- beliefs in spirits and the treatments used by medicine men;
- practical knowledge and resulting treatments.

Medicine in the ancient world:

Ancient Egypt:

- the development of Egyptian civilisation and its impact on medicine;

The medical renaissance and the growth of modern medicine:

- The rebirth of Greek ideas of careful observation of nature;
- Vesalius and advances in knowledge of anatomy;
- Paré and developments in surgery;
- Harvey and developments in physiology;
- the extent of the impact of these developments on the medical treatment of the majority of the population;
- the growth of a medical profession and the reduced role of women in medical care;
- inoculation, Jenner and vaccination.

Medicine in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries:

Fighting disease:

- Pasteur and the development of the germ theory of disease;
- Koch and developments in bacteriology;
- developments in drugs and vaccines;
- the development of penicillin;
- the battle against infectious and non-infectious disease;
- the development of hospitals and caring for the ill, including the contributions of Florence Nightingale and Mary Seacole.

Surgery:

- developments in anaesthetics and antiseptics, including the work of Simpson and Lister;
- developments in blood transfusion;
- modern surgeries, transplanting organs and plastic surgery.

Public health:

- the impact of industrialisation on living conditions and on health and hygiene;
- the development of public health systems;
- the reforms of the Liberal governments, 1906–1914;
- the introduction and impact of the National Health Service;
- the continuing debate about the provision of health care.

Technical knowledge

Candidates will not be required to explain technological or scientific principles, for example, the circulation of the blood. They will be given credit for explanation only where it is relevant to the historical problem posed in the question.

Study in Development: Crime and Punishment Through Time

This Study in Development examines continuities and changes in the history of crime and punishment. It focuses, in each of the periods identified below, on a common set of questions:

- What different kinds of crimes (including crimes against the person, crimes against property and crimes against authority) were committed in different periods?
- How has the nature of punishment changed over the period?
- Who determined the laws and punishments?
- How have ideas about the nature of crime, the causes of crime and the nature of punishment changed?
- How effective were law enforcement and punishments in preventing crime?

Crime and punishment in the ancient world:

- the nature of crime and punishment in Rome;
- the extent to which Roman Law was extended to parts of the Empire;
- how were subject nations treated by the Romans?

Crime and punishment in the Middle Ages:

- the impact of industrialisation on crime and punishment;
- changing ideas about the causes of crime;
- changing responses to riot and political crime – case studies of Peterloo and the Rebecca Riots.
- transportation, prisons and prison reform; the development of policing;
- attitudes towards women and crime and punishment;
- juvenile crime and punishment.

Crime and punishment in the twentieth century:

- case study of the suffragettes;
- the impact of changes in communication and technology on crime and policing;
- changing attitudes towards crime and punishment;
- the impact of wars, recessions and prosperity;
- juvenile crime and punishment.

Studies in Depth:

Candidates must study one of the following:

- 11 Elizabethan England
- 12 Britain, 1815–51
- 13 The American West, 1840–95
- 14 Germany, c.1919–45

The Study in Depth is designed to encourage candidates to develop and enrich their understanding of people and problems in the past through the study of social, economic, political, cultural and religious aspects of a country over a relatively short period of time (approximately 30–50 years).

Each Study in Depth is organised through a number of Key Questions and Focus Points.

This unit consists of a compulsory core and a range of optional Depth Studies from which one must be studied. Content is explained through a number of Key Questions and Focus Points. The Key Questions are to encourage an issues-based and investigative approach to the content. Focus Points provide guidance on the issues that need to be addressed in each Key Question. Candidates will be expected to demonstrate understanding of the Key Questions and Focus Points using knowledge of relevant historical examples.

Study in Depth 11: Elizabethan England

This Study in Depth concentrates on various aspects of the government, life and culture of the England of Elizabeth I from 1558 to 1603. It encourages candidates to explore the key features and characteristics of the period. ### Specified Content

The early years of the Nazi Party, including the Munich Putsch. Nazi ideas and methods. The roles of Hitler and other Nazi leaders. The impact of the Depression on Germany, the political, economic and social crisis of 1930–1933, the reasons for the Nazis' rise to power. Hitler takes power, 1933. The appeal of National Socialism to different sections of the population. How Hitler took power in 1933.

Key Question 3(a): The Nazi regime: how effectively did the Nazis control Germany, 1933–45?

Focus Points

- How much opposition was there and how effectively did the Nazis deal with it?
- How did the Nazis use culture and the mass media to control the people?
- Why did the Nazis persecute many groups in German society?
- Was Nazi Germany a totalitarian state?

Specified Content

The nature of Nazi rule in Germany: the Enabling Act, removal of opposition, methods of control and repression. The nature and extent of opposition to the regime by different groups and individuals including the churches, youth groups, communists, the army. Nazi policies towards different groups including the churches, trade unions, communists. Anti-semitism and changing policies towards Jews. The use of culture and the mass media by the Nazis.

Key Question 3(b): The Nazi regime: what was it like to live in Nazi Germany?

---

Focus Points

- How did young people react to the Nazi regime?
- How successful were Nazi policies towards women and the family?
- Did most people benefit from Nazi rule?
- How did the coming of war change life in Nazi Germany?

Specified Content

Attempts by the Nazis to appeal to and win the support of youth. Nazi education policies. The reactions of youth to Nazi policies. Nazi policies towards women and the family. Changing standards of living for different groups in Nazi Germany. Impact of the Second World War on Germany. Conversion to war economy. The Final Solution.

3.2 A952 Options 21 and 22: Historical Source Investigation

This unit consists of an historical investigation based on the content of the chosen development study as set out below.

A952/21: Developments in British Medicine 1750–1950

- Jenner: vaccination, opposition to it and its importance in medical history;
- the development of penicillin; the work of Fleming, Florey and Chain and the debate around the importance of their relative contributions;
- the significance of the development of penicillin;
- developments in anaesthetics and antiseptics, including the work of Simpson and Lister;
- developments in the use of blood transfusion;
- plastic surgery; the work of McIndoe;
- the development of hospitals and caring for the ill, including the contributions of Florence Nightingale and Mary Seacole;
- the impact of industrialisation on living conditions and health and hygiene;
- cholera the development of public health systems ;the work of Snow, Chadwick, Booth and Rowntree;
- the reforms of the Liberal governments, 1906–1914;
- the introduction and impact of the National Health Service.

A952/22: Developments in Crime and Punishment in Britain 1750–1950

- The introduction of the 'Bloody Code' in the eighteenth century;
- eighteenth-century attitudes towards crimes against property, including smuggling, highwaymen and poaching;
- the impact of industrialisation on crime and punishment;
- changing ideas about the causes of crime;
- changing responses to riot and political crime – including Peterloo and the Rebecca Riots;
- transportation, prisons and prison reform;
- the development of policing;
- attitudes towards women and crime and punishment; the suffragettes juvenile crime and punishment;
- the impact of changes in communication and technology on crime and policing;
- changing attitudes towards crime and punishment in the twentieth century.

3.3 A953: History Around Us and Modern World History Controlled Assessment

Candidates will complete a single controlled assessment component comprising two tasks. This component will represent 25% of the total marks available on the complete specification. It should be possible for candidates to satisfy the controlled assessment requirements by writing no more than 1000 words for each task. However, this figure is given only as guidance and it is recognised that many candidates may do more or less than this.

Safety during fieldwork is paramount and candidates should be involved in Risk Assessment as part of their preparation for controlled assessment.

Candidates must not base controlled assessment on content that will be examined in any other unit in the specification.

OCR will issue the questions for these tasks and will issue new tasks each year.

Centres must use the new OCR issued task each year. It will not be possible to carry forward a task from one academic year to the next.

The controlled assessment component will be assessed out of 50 marks, of which 25 marks are allocated to AO1 and AO2 and 25 marks are allocated to AO3.

Candidates must complete two tasks, each worth a maximum of 25 marks.

Task One: History Around Us. This task assesses AO3

Task Two: Modern World Study This task assesses AO1 and AO2.

History Around Us

This task will be based on a hypothesis related to the site.

Candidates are required to investigate an historical site and to use the evidence at the site, supported by a variety of additional sources, to investigate an historical interpretation.

OCR will issue a generic task and mark scheme for an historical site. Centres may then adapt the X and Y in the task to fit the chosen historical site.

Candidates are also required to evaluate the sources used in terms of their utility and reliability for the investigation undertaken.

As a result of undertaking this task, candidates should develop an understanding that:

- material remains of the past are as important a resource for our understanding of history as the written or pictorial record;
- historical interpretations are based on evidence and may be challenged by new evidence or analysis of existing evidence;
- historical sources are open to different interpretations and may vary in terms of their utility and reliability when regarded as evidence to evaluate an historical interpretation.

The assignment for History Around Us must be based on a visit to and an investigation of an historical site. The assignment should require candidates to interpret, evaluate and use the visible remains at the site as evidence, and to analyse and evaluate different representations and interpretations of the site. A small number of other types of sources, for example, documentary sources, should be used to support the study. Candidates are also required to evaluate the utility of the sources used in the assignment.

The candidates will be tested as follows:

Question 1: Candidates must be able to find evidence at the site and in the supporting evidence both to support and oppose the hypothesis of the given task.

Question 2: Candidates are required to undertake an evaluation of the reliability and utility of the sources used to question 1.

It is expected that candidates will have been taught a brief history of the chosen site and will have a sound understanding of the general features of this before they begin their on-site investigation. The site should be studied in its historical context and not in isolation.

Possible questions that OCR will issue may ask candidates to:

- explore how a site is presented in a guide book;
- how archaeological evidence can be interpreted differently, leading to different reconstructions;
- how a site has been represented in different ways over time.

Centres may insert the specific name of the site into the question title of the task, for example, 'The town of Ashington changed dramatically over the period 1750–1900'.

Modern World Studies

Task 2

OCR will issue a generic title for Centres to adapt to their centre specific resources. OCR will issue a new title for Centres to use each year.

The assignment for the Modern World Study should test the candidate's ability to explain and analyse a current issue or problem in the context of the past. The assignment should allow candidates to show how knowledge and understanding of the past helps understanding of the key features and characteristics of contemporary situations, people and events. Centres should take care to ensure that the issue or problem is current.

Candidates should use their knowledge of the past to explain how the current problem or issue has arisen. Background information on the topic covered by the task may need to include events from several centuries ago. In the task itself, however, it is permissible to restrict the evidence candidates use to support their answers to a shorter period. All tasks must require students to provide a degree of supporting evidence from at least 40 years prior to the modern day.

For example, a study of the problems that exist today in Northern Ireland would be difficult without reference to the events of the seventeenth century, but the task itself might ask how events since partition have influenced the modern day. It would not be acceptable to ask how events since 1972 have influenced the modern world as this assessment includes no reference to events at least 40 years ago.

The candidates' understanding should be tested as follows:

Part A: A straightforward question requiring candidates to explain one of the key features of the issue being studied.

Part B. A question requiring significant extended writing to explain how past events shape the thinking/ behavior of different groups involved in the issue being studied.

---

Suggested course of study

Centres may find the following example of value. It is based on preparing students to answer the task and assumes a six week preparation time.

Week 1: Identifying the Issues

Candidates are asked to make a list of the different problems that exist in Ireland today and the differing viewpoints of various sections in Irish society. This may also be supplemented by an ongoing collection of material from newspapers to show how events are developing.

Weeks 2 and 3: The Historical Background

In order to understand the historical context of the study, students are taught the history of Ireland from the earliest English involvement until 1968. The earliest period, however, is taught as brief outline and emphasis is placed on its impact on the present day and on key events, such as the battle of the Boyne.

Weeks 4 and 5: Modern Day Ireland

A more detailed study of events in Ireland since 1968 takes the students up to the present day. Emphasis is placed on how attitudes have developed and key events in the period, including attempts to bring peace.

Week 6: Making Links

Candidates are involved in discussion groups considering how far attitudes of various groups are a product of the past.

Once the preparation work is completed, candidates undertake the controlled assessment task subject to the guidance set out in section 5.

4 Schemes of Assessment

4.1 GCSE Scheme of Assessment

GCSE History A J415

Unit A951: Study in Development and Study in Depth

45% of the total GCSE marks
2 hrs written paper
75 marks

Candidates must attempt one component for Unit A951. Each option (11/12/13/14) will include questions on both Studies in Development and one Study in Depth. Candidates must answer questions on one Study in Development, plus those on the chosen Study in Depth.

Studies in Depth

Elizabethan England
Britain, 1815–51
The American West, 1840–95
Germany, c.1919–45

Studies in Development

Medicine through Time
Crime and Punishment through Time

Unit A951 is divided into two sections.

Section A tests the Chosen Study in Development.

- A compulsory source-based question is set on the chosen Study in Development. The question is structured into three parts and carries a total of 20 marks.
- There are three structured questions on the chosen Study in Development, of which candidates must answer one. Each question is structured into three parts and carries a total of 25 marks. Sub-question (a) will be marked out of 5, sub-question (b) will be marked out of 8 and sub-question (c) will be marked out of 12.

Section B tests the Chosen Study in Depth.

- There is one compulsory source-based question structured into two or three parts, and carrying a total of 20 marks.
- There are two structured questions, of which candidates must answer one. Each question is structured into three parts and carries a total of 25 marks. Sub-question (a) will be marked out of 5, sub-question (b) will be marked out of 8 and sub-question (c) will be marked out of 12.

This unit is externally assessed.

Unit A952: Historical Source Investigation

30% of the total GCSE marks
1hr 45 Minutes written paper
50 marks

This unit is set on the coherent element of approximately 200 years of British history set out in the specimen content and will be based around an historical issue taken from that content. Each option, 21/22 will include questions on one historical enquiry from the specified content.

All questions will be compulsory. There will be six questions set on a range of source material. Over a period of several years, OCR expects to include the full range of source material such as written sources, cartoons, woodcuts, paintings and statistics. Candidates must use their contextual knowledge to help them comprehend, interpret, evaluate and use the sources and historical interpretations and representations they are given.

This unit is externally assessed.

Unit A953: History Around Us and Modern World History Controlled Assessment

25% of the total GCSE marks
2 Tasks
50 marks

There is a total of 50 marks, of which 25 marks are allocated to Assessment Objective 1 and 2 and 25 marks to Assessment Objectives 3.

Candidates must complete two controlled assessment tasks (25 marks each). Each task may be single task or structured to include a number of questions requiring shorter answers.

Task 1 will be set on History Around Us, and Task 2 will be set on a Modern World Study.

Task 1 should involve the investigation of an historical site and must test AO1 and AO2.

Task 2 will involve setting a current issue or problem from world events in the context of the past and must test AO3.

It should be possible for candidates to satisfy the controlled assessment requirements by writing no more than 1000 words for each task. However, this figure is given only as guidance, and it is recognised that many candidates may do more or less than this.

4.2 Entry Options

GCSE candidates must be entered for all 3 units.

The entry codes below need to be combined with a controlled assessment component code, please see section 6.1 for this information.

Candidates must be entered for certification to claim their overall GCSE qualification grade. All candidates should be entered for one of the following option codes:

OCR GCSE in History A – J415*

4.3 Tiers

This scheme of assessment is untiered, covering all of the ability range grades from A* to G. Candidates achieving less than the minimum mark for Grade G will be ungraded.

4.4 Assessment Availability

There is one examination series each year, in June.

GCSE units will be assessed from 2010.

4.5 Assessment Objectives

Candidates are expected to demonstrate the following in the context of the content described:

AO1 Recall, Select and Communicate

- recall, select, use and communicate their knowledge and understanding of history;

AO2 Explanation and Analysis

Demonstrate their understanding of the past through explanation and analysis of:

- Key concepts: causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance within an historical context
- Key features and characteristics of the periods studied and the relationships between them.

AO3 Understanding, Analysis and Evaluation

Understand, analyse and evaluate:

- a range of source material as part of an historical enquiry
- how aspects of the past have been interpreted and represented in different ways as part of an historical enquiry

AO weightings – GCSE

The relationship between the components and the assessment objectives of the scheme of assessment is shown in the following grid.

Unit	% of GCSE			Total
	AO1	AO2	AO3
Unit A951: Study in Development and Study in Depth	18	18	9	45%
Unit A952: Historical Source Investigation	7	4.5	18.5	30%
Unit A953: History Around Us and Modern World History Controlled Assessment	7.5	10	7.5	25%
	32.5%	32.5	30%	100%

4.6 Quality of Written Communication

Quality of written communication is assessed in Unit A951 and Controlled Assessment wherever candidates are required to produce extended written responses.

Candidates are expected to:

- ensure that text is legible and that spelling, punctuation and grammar are accurate so that meaning is clear;
- present relevant information in a form that suits its purpose;
- use a suitable structure and style of writing.

The quality of written communication covers clarity of expression, structure of arguments, presentation of ideas, grammar, punctuation and spelling. It is one of the criteria used to determine the place of a response within a level in mark schemes.

5 Controlled Assessment

5.1 The controlled assessment units

All units except those identified in 4.1 have been designed to be internally assessed, applying the principles of controlled assessment. Controls are set within the assessments so that validity and reliability are ensured and the assessors can confidently authenticate the candidates' work. These controls take a variety of forms in each of the stages of the assessment process: task setting, task taking and task marking. Within each of these three stages there are different levels of control. This section sets out the overall OCR approach, but the Scheme of Assessment sections of the units include more detail and any specific requirements.

5.2 Task setting

5.2.1 The OCR approach

OCR will assume a high level of control in relation to the setting of tasks. A number of controlled assessment tasks will be available from OCR for the controlled assessment units. These tasks have been designed to meet the full assessment requirements of the unit. Candidates will need to take part in a planned learning programme that covers the underpinning knowledge and skills of the unit in addition to completing the evidence requirements of the designated assessment tasks.

5.2.2 Using controlled assessment tasks

Centres use the tasks that are set by OCR each year. These tasks can be used with a minimum amount of adaptation or they can be adapted so that they allow the usage of local resources available to any centre.

Controlled assessment tasks may be adapted by centres in ways which will not put at risk the opportunity for candidates to meet the Assessment Criteria, including the chance to gain marks at the highest level. For some units this may allow for little to be adapted other than cosmetic details eg the description and nature of a company on which a task is based. For other units the medium in which the candidates are working may be a matter of choice. Each controlled assessment task will include a section which briefly specifies the type and degree of adaptation which is appropriate.

The same OCR controlled assessment task must NOT be used as the practice material and then as the actual live assessment material. Centres should devise their own practice material using the OCR specimen controlled assessment task as guidance.

5.3 Task taking

5.3.1 The OCR approach

For GCSE in History OCR will assume a high level of control. The task taking parameters will be defined for several key controls and the remainder set by centres as outlined below.

5.3.2 Definitions of the controls

(a) Authenticity control: Candidates will complete all work for assessment under direct teacher supervision except as outlined below. For GCSE in History most, but not all, work for assessment would be under direct teacher supervision, for example, it is acceptable for some aspects of exploration to be outside the direct supervision of the teacher but the teacher must be able to authenticate the work and insist on acknowledgement and referencing of any sources used.

(b) Feedback control: Feedback to candidates will be encouraged but tightly defined. Within GCSE in History OCR expects teachers to supervise and guide candidates who are undertaking work which is internally assessed. The degree of teacher guidance in candidates' work will vary according to the kinds of work being undertaken. It should be remembered, however, that candidates are required to reach their own judgements and conclusions. When supervising tasks, teachers are expected to:

- Exercise continuing supervision of work in order to monitor progress and to prevent plagiarism;
- Exercise continuing supervision of practical work to ensure essential compliance with Health and Safety requirements;
- Ensure that the work is completed in accordance with the specification requirements and can be assessed in accordance with the specified marking criteria and procedures.

(c) Time control: The time recommended for candidates to complete the assessment task is 20 hours (10 hours per task) OCR recommends 6 hours as an appropriate amount of time for candidates to carry out the necessary preparation for each task: research, note taking, planning and drafting. The writing-up of the final piece of work for each task is recommended at a further 4 hours. The teaching time for coverage of the Study Unit is in addition to these recommendations. Tasks will be set within a broader learning programme which will allow the acquisition of subject specific knowledge and the development of appropriate practical skills.

Controlled assessed work should be supervised and marked by the teacher. Some of the work, by its very nature, may be undertaken outside the centre, e.g. research work, testing, etc. But it is likely that using or applying this material will be undertaken under direct teacher supervision. With all internally assessed work, the teacher must be satisfied that the work submitted for assessment is the candidate's own work and be able to authenticate it using the specified procedure.

(d) Collaboration control: Candidates must complete and/or evidence all work individually. With reference to collaboration control, all assessment evidence will be provided by the individual candidate.

(e) Resource control: Access to resources will be limited to those appropriate to the task and as required by the unit. Candidates will need to be provided with the most appropriate materials and equipment to allow them full access to the marking criteria. For most units basic workshop, laboratory or workplace equipment will be adequate; however, for specific units the use of specialist equipment and software will be required to enable the candidate to achieve fully.

5.3.3 Quality assuring the controls

It is the responsibility of the Head of Centre to ensure that the controls set out in the specification and the individual units are imposed.

5.3.4 Completing the tasks

Candidates should be allowed sufficient time to complete all of the tasks. It is suggested that evidence is produced in several sessions, each focussing on a specific task within the overall task or scenario. These may be interspersed with opportunities to learn sector knowledge and develop appropriate practical skills

Each candidate must produce individual and authentic evidence for each of the tasks. It is particularly important that candidates working in groups, where the unit allows this, should still produce individual evidence of their contribution to ongoing group work and any final realisation or outcome.

Centre staff may give support and guidance to candidates. This support and guidance should focus on checking that candidates understand what is expected of them. It is not acceptable for tutors to provide writing frames, model answers or to work through answers in detail.

Candidates may use information from any relevant source to help them with producing evidence for the tasks unless there are any restrictions on any evidence or resources to be used, if this the case it will be clearly identified within the particular unit.

Where a dataset or case material is provided it is acknowledged that candidates in their responses will refer to situations in the assessment material but as this is fictitious this does not break any rules of confidentiality or copyright. However, in general, candidates must be guided on the use of information from other sources to ensure that confidentiality and intellectual property rights are maintained at all times. It is essential that any material directly used from a source is appropriately and rigorously referenced.

5.3.5 Presentation of work

Candidates must observe certain procedures in the production of controlled assessments.

- Tables, graphs and spreadsheets may be produced using appropriate ICT. These should be inserted into the report at the appropriate place.
- Any copied material must be suitably acknowledged.
- Quotations must be clearly marked and a reference provided wherever possible.
- Work submitted for moderation or marking must be marked with the:
  - centre number;
  - centre name;
  - candidate number;
  - candidate name;
  - specification code and title;
  - task title.

Work submitted on paper for moderation or marking must be secured by treasury tags. Work submitted in digital format (CD or online) must be in a suitable file structure with each file clearly named with the unit code, centre number and candidate number.

5.4 Task marking

5.4.1 The OCR approach

---

For GCSE in History OCR will assume a medium level of control in relation to the marking of tasks. All controlled assessed units will be marked by the centre assessor(s) using awarding body marking grids and guidance and moderated by the OCR appointed moderator. For this GCSE in History external moderation will take the form of postal moderation or e-moderation via the OCR-Repository where evidence in a digital format is submitted.

5.4.2 Applying the assessment criteria

The starting point for marking the tasks is the Marking Grids within each unit. These contain levels of criteria for the skills, knowledge and understanding that the candidate is required to demonstrate. Before the start of the course, and for use at INSET training events, OCR will provide exemplification through real or simulated candidate work which will help to clarify the level of achievement the assessors should be looking for when awarding marks.

5.4.3 Use of ‘best fit’ approach to marking grids

The assessment task(s) for each unit should be marked by the teacher according to the given marking criteria within the relevant unit using a ‘best fit’ approach. For each of the assessment objectives/criteria, one of the three descriptors provided in the marking grid that most closely describes the quality of the work being marked should be selected.

Marking should be positive, rewarding achievement rather than penalising failure or omissions. The award of marks must be directly related to the marking criteria.

Teachers use their professional judgement in selecting the descriptor that best describes the work of the candidate.

To select the most appropriate mark within the descriptor, teachers should use the following guidance:

- Where the candidate’s work convincingly meets the statement, the highest mark should be awarded;
- Where the candidate’s work adequately meets the statement, the most appropriate mark in the middle range should be awarded;
- Where the candidate’s work just meets the statement, the lowest mark should be awarded.

Centres should use the full range of marks available to them; centres must award full marks in any band for work which fully meets that descriptor. This is work which is ‘the best one could expect from candidates working at that level’. Where there are only two marks within a band the choice will be between work which, in most respects, meets the statement and work which just meets the statement. For wider mark bands the marks on either side of the middle mark(s) for ‘adequately met’ should be used where the standard is lower or higher than ‘adequate’ but not the highest or lowest mark in the band.

Only one mark per assessment objective/criteria will be entered. The final mark for the candidate for each task is out of a total of 25/25 and is found by totalling the marks for each of the marking objective/criteria strands.

5.4.4 Authentication

Teachers/course tutors must be confident that the work they mark is the candidate’s own. This does not mean that a candidate must be supervised throughout the completion of all work but the teacher/course tutor must exercise sufficient supervision, or introduce sufficient checks, to be in a position to judge the authenticity of the candidate’s work.

Wherever possible, the teacher/course tutor should discuss work-in-progress with candidates. This will not only ensure that work is underway in a planned and timely manner but will also provide opportunities for assessors to check authenticity of the work and provide general feedback.

Candidates must not plagiarise. Plagiarism is the submission of another’s work as one’s own and/or failure to acknowledge the source correctly. Plagiarism is considered to be malpractice and could lead to the candidate being disqualified. Plagiarism sometimes occurs innocently when candidates are unaware of the need to reference or acknowledge their sources. It is therefore important that centres ensure that candidates understand that the work they submit must be their own and that they understand the meaning of plagiarism and what penalties may be applied. Candidates may refer to research, quotations or evidence but they must list their sources. The rewards from acknowledging sources, and the credit they will gain from doing so, should be emphasised to candidates as well as the potential risks of failing to acknowledge such material. The candidate section of this handbook provides some guidance on referencing and reminds candidates that the work they submit must be their own and that they may be asked to sign a declaration to this effect. Centres should reinforce this message to ensure candidates understand what is expected of them.

Please note: Centres must confirm to OCR that the evidence produced by candidates is authentic. The Centre Authentication Form provided in this handbook (see section xx) includes a declaration for assessors to sign. It is a requirement of the QCA Common Criteria for all Qualifications that proof of authentication is received.

5.4.5 Internal standardisation

It is important that all internal assessors, working in the same subject area, work to common standards. Centres must ensure that the internal standardisation of marks across assessors and teaching groups takes place using an appropriate procedure.

This can be done in a number of ways. In the first year, reference material and OCR training meetings will provide a basis for Centres' own standardisation. In subsequent years, this, or Centres' own archive material, may be used. Centres are advised to hold preliminary meetings of staff involved to compare standards through cross-marking a small sample of work. After most marking has been completed, a further meeting at which work is exchanged and discussed will enable final adjustments to be made.

5.4.6 Moderation

Information on process

All work (for Option A) is marked by the teacher and internally standardised by the centre. Marks are then submitted to OCR by 15 May for the June examination, after which moderation takes place in accordance with OCR procedures. The purpose of moderation is to ensure that the standard of the award of marks for work is the same for each centre and that each teacher has applied the standards appropriately across the range of candidates within the centre.

The sample of work which is presented to the Moderator for moderation must show how the marks have been awarded in relation to the marking criteria defined in Appendix X.

Each candidate's work should have a cover sheet attached to it with a summary of the marks awarded for each task. If the work is to be submitted in digital format this cover sheet should also be submitted electronically within each candidate's files.

5.5 Minimum Requirements for Controlled Assessment

There should be clear evidence that work has been attempted and some work produced.

If a candidate submits no work for an internally assessed component, then the candidate should be indicated as being absent from that component on the mark sheets submitted to OCR. If a candidate completes any work at all for an internally assessed component, then the work should be assessed according to the internal assessment objectives and marking instructions and the appropriate mark awarded, which may be zero.

6 Technical Information

6.1 Making Unit Entries

Please note that centres must be registered with OCR in order to make any entries, including estimated entries. It is recommended that centres apply to OCR to become a registered centre well in advance of making their first entries. Centres must have made an entry for a unit in order for OCR to supply the appropriate forms and/or moderator details for controlled assessments.

It is essential that entry codes are quoted in all correspondence with OCR. Please use the table below in conjunction with the table in section 4.1.

For example if your candidates enter for J415A, add 01 for postal moderation or 02 for OCR-repository. So the final entry code is J415A/01

All candidates within a centre must be entered for the same controlled assessment component.

(Replace * with appropriate letter)

Option code	Component code	Submission method	Unit title
J415*/	01	OCR-repository	History Around Us and Modern World History Controlled Assessment
	02	Postal moderation

6.2 Terminal Rules

Candidates must take at least 40% of the assessment in the same series in which they enter for the full course qualification certification.

6.3 Unit and Qualification Re-sits

Candidates may re-sit each unit once before entering for certification for a GCSE.

Candidates may enter for the full qualifications an unlimited number of times.

6.4 Making Qualification Entries

Candidates must enter for qualification certification separately from unit assessments. If a certification entry is not made, no overall grade can be awarded.

Candidates may enter for:

- GCSE certification J415.

A candidate who has completed all the units required for the qualification must enter for certification in the same examination series in which the terminal rules are satisfied.

GCSE certification is available from June 2010.

6.5 Grading

GCSE results are awarded on the scale A*–G. Units are awarded a* to g. Grades are awarded on certificates. However, results for candidates who fail to achieve the minimum grade (G or g) will be recorded as unclassified (U or u) and this is not certificated.

GCSE are unitised schemes. Candidates can take units across several different series provided the terminal rules are satisfied. They can also re-sit units or choose from optional units available. When working out candidates' overall grades OCR needs to be able to compare performance on the same unit in different series when different grade boundaries have been set, and between different units. OCR uses a Uniform Mark Scale to enable this to be done.

A candidate's uniform mark for each unit is calculated from the candidate's raw marks on that unit. The raw mark boundary marks are converted to the equivalent uniform mark boundary. Marks between grade boundaries are converted on a pro rata basis.

When unit results are issued, the candidate's unit grade and uniform mark are given. The uniform mark is shown out of the maximum uniform mark for the unit e.g. 41/50.

The specification is graded on a Uniform Mark Scale. The uniform mark thresholds for each of the assessments are shown below:

Unit Weighting	Maximum Unit Uniform Mark	Unit Grade									u
		a*	a	b	c	d	e	f	g
45%	90	81	72	63	54	45	36	27	18	0
30%	60	54	48	42	36	30	24	18	12	0
25%	50	45	40	35	30	25	20	15	10	0

Candidate's uniform marks for each unit are aggregated and grades for the specification are generated on the following scale.

GCSE Qualification	Qualification Grade							U
	Max UMS	A*	A	B	C	D	E
GCSE	200	180	160	140	120	100	80	0

Awarding Grades

The written papers will have a total weighting of 75% and controlled assessment a weighting of 25%.

A candidate's uniform mark for each unit will be combined with the uniform mark for the controlled assessment to give a total uniform mark for the specification. The candidate's grade will be determined by the total uniform mark.

6.6 Result Enquiries and Appeals

Under certain circumstances, a centre may wish to query the grade available to one or more candidates or to submit an appeal against an outcome of such an enquiry. Enquiries about unit results must be made immediately following the series in which the relevant unit was taken.

For procedures relating to enquiries on results and appeals, centres should consult the Administrative Guide for General Qualifications and the document Enquiries about Results and Appeals – Information and Guidance for Centres produced by the Joint Council. Copies of the most recent editions of these papers can be obtained from OCR.

6.7 Shelf-Life of Units

Individual unit results, prior to certification of the qualification, have a shelf-life limited only by that of the qualification.

6.8 Guided Learning Hours

GCSE History A requires 120–140 guided learning hours in total.

6.9 Code of Practice/Subject Criteria/Common Criteria Requirements

These specifications comply in all respects with the current GCSE, GCE and AEA Code of Practice as available on the QCA website, The Statutory Regulation of External Qualifications 2004 and the subject criteria for GCSE History.

6.10 Prohibited Qualifications and Classification Code

Candidates who enter for the OCR GCSE specifications may not also enter for any other GCSE specification with the certification title History in the same examination series.

Every specification is assigned to a national classification code indicating the subject area to which it belongs.

The classification code for History specifications is 4010.

Centres should be aware that candidates who enter for more than one GCSE qualification with the same classification code will have only one grade (the highest) counted for the purpose of the School and College Achievement and Attainment Tables.

6.11 Disability Discrimination Act Information Relating to this Specification

GCSEs often require assessment of a broad range of competences. This is because they are general qualifications and, as such, prepare candidates for a wide range of occupations and higher level courses.

The revised GCSE qualifications and subject criteria were reviewed to identify whether any of the competences required by the subject presented a potential barrier to any disabled candidates. If this was the case, the situation was reviewed again to ensure that such competences were included only where essential to the subject. The findings of this process were discussed with disability groups and with disabled people.

Reasonable adjustments are made for disabled candidates in order to enable them to access the assessments and to demonstrate what they know and can do. For this reason, very few candidates will have a complete barrier to the assessment. Information on reasonable adjustments is found in Regulations and Guidance Relating to Candidates who are Eligible for Adjustments in Examinations produced by the Joint Council www.jcq.org.uk.

Candidates who are unable to access part of the assessment, even after exploring all possibilities through reasonable adjustments, may still be able to receive an award based on the parts of the assessment they have taken.

Candidates with a visual impairment may find this subject difficult to access fully.

6.12 Arrangements for Candidates with Particular Requirements

Candidates who are not disabled under the terms of the DDA may be eligible for access arrangements to enable them to demonstrate what they know and can do. Candidates who have been fully prepared for the assessment but who are ill at the time of the examination, or are too ill to take part of the assessment, may be eligible for special consideration. Centres should consult the Regulations and Guidance Relating to Candidates who are Eligible for Adjustments in Examinations produced by the Joint Council.

6.13 OCR Repository

The OCR-Repository allows centres to store controlled assessment electronically and to submit their moderation sample in electronic format.

The OCR GCSE History B (Short Course) units A973 can be submitted electronically: please check Section 6.1 for unit entry codes for the OCR-Repository.

More information on the OCR-Repository can be found in Appendix C: Guidance for the Production of Electronic Assessment.

7 Other Specification Issues

7.1 Overlap with other Qualifications

There is no significant overlap between the content of this specification and that of any other GCSE qualification.

7.2 Progression from these Qualifications

GCSE qualifications are general qualifications which enable candidates to progress either directly to employment, or to proceed to further qualifications.

Progression to further study from GCSE will depend upon the number and nature of the grades achieved. Broadly, candidates who are awarded mainly Grades D to G at GCSE could either strengthen their base through further study of qualifications at Level 1 within the National Qualifications Framework or could proceed to Level 2. Candidates who are awarded mainly Grades A* to C at GCSE would be well prepared for study at Level 3 within the National Qualifications Framework.

7.3 Spiritual, Moral, Ethical, Social, Legislative, Economic and Cultural Issues

These specifications offer opportunities which can contribute to an understanding of Spiritual, Moral, Ethical, Social, Legislative, Economic and Cultural issues in the following way:

They are supported by key questions relating to different communities and cultures in the Development and Depth studies. For example, in Elizabethan England, 'What was the importance of religion in Elizabethan times?', 'Was Elizabethan England a divided society?'; In The American West, 'Why did white Americans find it difficult to reach a peaceful settlement of their differences?'; in Nazi Germany, 'How was Hitler able to come to power in Germany?'; In History Around Us, candidates may investigate sites of particular religious or social importance. Candidates will also consider varied interpretations and representations of different cultures in the Study in Depth.

7.4 Sustainable Development, Health and Safety Considerations and European Developments consistent with international agreements

These specifications support the issues of health and safety and European developments, consistent with current EU agreements, in the following way.

Currently there are no sustainable development issues supported by this spec.

Health and Safety issues can be supported by the Medicine through Time Development Study, for example 'The impact of industrialisation on living conditions and health and hygiene' and 'Fighting Disease, Surgery and Public Health in the Nineteenth and Twentieth centuries'. This is also addressed in the Depth Study Britain, 1815–51, ‘How were living and working conditions of the urban working classes improved during this period?’

Environmental issues are relevant to the History Around Us Study. Candidates may consider the impact of tourism and environmental changes on the sites of Historic interest.

Safety during fieldwork is paramount and candidates should be involved in Risk Assessment as part of their preparation for controlled assessment.

The European dimension can be addressed within the Modern World Study, for example, relationships of any particular case study with Europe and the world. International relations are also considered in Medicine Through Time through the exchange of medical ideas in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

7.5 Avoidance of Bias

OCR has taken great care in preparation of these specifications and assessment materials to avoid bias of any kind.

7.6 Language

These specifications and associated assessment materials are in English only.

7.7 Key Skills

This specification provides opportunities for the development of the Key Skills of Communication, Application of Number, Information Technology, Working with Others, Improving Own Learning and Performance and Problem Solving at Levels 1 and/or 2. However, the extent to which this evidence fulfils the Key Skills criteria at these levels will be totally dependent on the style of teaching and learning adopted for each unit.

The following table indicates where opportunities may exist for at least some coverage of the various Key Skills criteria at Levels 1 and/or 2 for each unit.

Unit	C		AoN		IT		WwO		IoLP		PS
	1	2	1	2	1	2	1	2	1	2	1	2
A951	✓	✓			✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
A952	✓	✓			✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
A953	✓	✓			✓	✓			✓	✓	✓	✓

Detailed opportunities for generating Key Skills evidence through this specification are posted on the OCR website (www.ocr.org.uk). A summary document for Key Skills Coordinators showing ways in which opportunities for Key Skills arise within GCSE courses has been published.

7.8 ICT

In order to play a full part in modern society, candidates need to be confident and effective users of ICT. Where appropriate, candidates should be given opportunities to use ICT in order to further their study of History.

This sub-section offers guidance on opportunities for using ICT during the course. Such opportunities may or may not contribute to the provision of evidence for IT Skills.

ICT Application/ Development	Opportunities for using ICT during the course
Find things out from a range of sources, select and synthesise information to meet needs.	For a project on local history, candidates access electronic archives, search for and use appropriate websites for museums, government agencies and university departments. Candidates use CD ROMs and Websites to test hypotheses about a given topic such as the nature of Medieval medicine or twenty-first century crime rates. A database showing increasing numbers of Indians on reservations is compared to other historic sources as evidence of the white policy of concentration.
Develop an ability to question the accuracy, bias and plausibility of information researched.	Candidates search for websites to support their Study in Depth revision notes and evaluate each site according to its relevance. Different interpretations are available on the internet for candidates investigating the Modern World Study to compare with their contextual knowledge and consider motives for bias.
Develop ideas using ICT tools; amend and refine work, and enhance its quality and accuracy.	Candidates draft History Around Us site reports, including referenced annotations on electronic images taken from a relevant website or digital camera.
Exchange and share information.	E-mail projects may be set up for candidates to communicate with each other, their teacher, an expert or students from another Centre or country. This may be particularly relevant to the Modern World Study, for example, researching attitudes in Northern Ireland towards the Peace Talks. Candidates can use E-mail or an electronic notice board to collect and pass on revision notes.

7.9 Citizenship

Since September 2002, the National Curriculum for England at Key Stage 4 has included a mandatory programme of study for Citizenship. Parts of this Programme of Study may be delivered through an appropriate treatment of other subjects.

This section offers guidance on opportunities for developing knowledge, skills and understanding of citizenship issues during the course.

Citizenship Programme of Study	Opportunities for teaching citizenship Issues during the course
Understand about the legal and human rights underpinning society.	The provision of government intervention compared to individual responsibility can be debated whilst learning about Medicine or Crime and Punishment Through Time.
The origins and implications of the diverse national, regional, religious and ethnic identities in the United Kingdom.	Candidates can investigate the origins and effects of religious diversity in sixteenth-century England in the Elizabethan England Depth Study.  Nineteenth-century emigration can be explained in the Britain, 1815–51, Study in Depth.
The work of parliament, government and the courts in making the law.	Candidates trace the development of the justice system and government intervention in health or crime issues in the Development studies
The opportunities for individuals and voluntary groups to bring about social change.	The role of influential individuals and voluntary groups can be studied, for example, the Campaigners for social reform in Britain, 1815–51.
The importance of the free press and the role of the media in society.	Case studies of the influence of the press on public opinion are available in all Depth Studies. Candidates can compare the American press in the 1870s or the Nazi control of the media with current examples.
Research a topical issue by analysing information from different sources; show an awareness of the use and abuse of statistics.	Candidates can research for a class debate on contemporary issues in health care or crime and punishment for their development study. They can find, compare and evaluate statistics on crime rates or patient waiting lists from the last few governments.
Express, justify and defend orally and in writing a personal opinion about such issues.	In response to a particular issue, for example, a solution to a crime problem in urban areas, candidates can be hot-seated and answer questions from the class.
Contribute to group and class discussion and formal debates.	Many opportunities for such development will arise. Candidates could debate the evidence for and against change in the near future in their Modern World Case Study.
Use imagination to consider and evaluate other people's experiences and opinions.	Candidates can adopt the role of a character type from their respective Depth Study and present their ideas in a meeting on a specific issue, for example, the solution to the Indian problem in the American West.  Unit 2 preparation and the study of a range of secondary sources concerning their Depth Study and Modern World Study will enable candidates to evaluate different interpretations in their specific context.

Appendix A: Grade Descriptions

Grade descriptions are provided to give a general indication of the standards of achievement likely to have been shown by candidates awarded particular grades. The descriptions must be interpreted in relation to the content in the specification; they are not designed to define that content. The grade awarded will depend in practice upon the extent to which the candidate has met the assessment objectives overall. Shortcomings in some aspects of the assessment may be balanced by better performance in others.

The grade descriptors have been produced by the regulatory authorities in collaboration with the awarding bodies.

Grade F

Candidates recall, select and organise some relevant historical knowledge to show some basic understanding of historical periods, themes and topics studied. They communicate their ideas using everyday language.

They demonstrate their understanding of the past through description of reasons, results and changes in relation to the events, people and issues studied. They provide limited descriptions of events, issues or periods, including characteristic ideas, beliefs and attitudes.

They understand sources of information and, taking them at their face value, begin to consider their usefulness for investigating historical issues and draw simple conclusions.

They identify some differences between ways in which events, people or issues have been represented and interpreted, and may identify some of the reasons for these.

Grade C

Candidates recall, select, organise and deploy historical knowledge with accuracy and relevance. They show sound understanding of the historical periods, themes and topics studied. They communicate their ideas using historical terminology appropriately.

They demonstrate their understanding of the past through structured descriptions and explanations of the main concepts, features and characteristics of the periods studied. Their descriptions are accurate and their explanations show understanding of relevant causes, consequences and changes.

They evaluate and use critically a range of sources of information in an historical context to investigate historical questions, problems or issues, and with some limited guidance, to reach reasoned conclusions.

They recognise and comment on how and why events, people and issues have been interpreted and represented in different ways, and provide an appropriate consideration of their value in the historical context.

Grade A

Candidates recall, select, organise and deploy detailed historical knowledge effectively and with consistency. They show thorough understanding of the historical periods, themes and topics studied. They communicate their ideas using historical terms accurately and appropriately.

They demonstrate their understanding of the past through developed, reasoned and well-substantiated explanations. They make perceptive analyses of the key concepts, features and characteristics of the periods studied, and the interrelationships between them.

They evaluate and use critically a wide range of sources of information in an historical context to investigate historical questions, problems or issues independently, and to reach reasoned and substantiated conclusions.

They recognise and provide reasoned comments on how and why events, people and issues have been interpreted and represented in different ways, and provide a well-developed consideration of their value in relation to their historical context.

Appendix B: Marking Criteria for Controlled Assessments

How to use the mark schemes

- Each band descriptor covers all the relevant assessment objectives for relevant question(s).
- The descriptors should be read and applied as a whole.
- Where two responses are assessed against the same mark scheme these responses should not be assessed separately - they should be assessed as a whole (as one response).
- Make a best-fit match between the answer and the band descriptors.
- An answer does not have to meet all the requirements of a band descriptor before being placed in that band. It will be placed in a particular band when it meets more of the requirements of that band than it meets the requirements of other bands.

When deciding the mark within a band, the following criteria should be applied:

- the extent to which the statements within the band have been achieved;
- the quality of written communication.

For example:

- an answer that convincingly meets nearly all the requirements of a band descriptor should be placed at or near the top of that band
- an answer that meets the requirements of many of the requirements of the band descriptor but never does so in a convincing manner should be placed in the middle of the band.

If an answer is on the border-line between two bands but it is decided that it fits better the descriptors for the lower of these two bands, then it should be placed near the top of that band.

Appendix C: Guidance for the Production of Electronic Controlled Assessment

The Controlled Assessment in Unit A953 comprises two tasks. For each candidate, the two tasks together form a Controlled Assessment portfolio, stored electronically.

Structure for evidence

A Controlled Assessment portfolio is a collection of folders and files containing the candidate's evidence. Folders should be organised in a structured way so that the evidence can be accessed easily by a teacher or moderator. This structure is commonly known as a folder tree. It would be helpful if the location of particular evidence is made clear by naming each file and folder appropriately and by use of an index, called 'Home Page.'

There should be a top level folder detailing the candidate's centre number, candidate number, surname and forename, together with the Unit code A953, so that the portfolio is clearly identified as the work of one candidate.

Each candidate's Controlled Assessment portfolio should be stored in a secure area on the centre network. Prior to submitting the Controlled Assessment portfolio to OCR, the centre should add a folder to the folder tree containing Controlled Assessment and summary forms.

Data formats for evidence

In order to minimise software and hardware compatibility issues it will be necessary to save candidates' work using an appropriate file format. (Further information on this topic is provided in the separate OCR guidance on digital Controlled Assessment submissions).

Candidates must use formats appropriate to the evidence that they are providing and appropriate to viewing for assessment and moderation. Open file formats or proprietary formats for which a downloadable reader or player is available are acceptable. Where this is not available, the file format is not acceptable.

Electronic Controlled Assessment is designed to give candidates an opportunity to demonstrate what they know, understand and can do using current technology. Candidates do not gain marks for using more sophisticated formats or for using a range of formats. A candidate who chooses to use only digital photographs (as required by the specification) and word documents will not be disadvantaged by that choice.

Evidence submitted is likely to be in the form of word processed documents, PowerPoint presentations, digital photos and digital video.

To ensure compatibility, all files submitted must be in the formats listed below. Word processed documents or PowerPoint presentations must be converted to HTML or PDF formats before submission. OCR will not accept compressed (zipped) file formats. Where new formats become available that might be acceptable, OCR will provide further guidance.

It is the centre's responsibility to ensure that the electronic portfolios submitted for moderation are accessible to the moderator and fully represent the evidence available for each candidate.
